1. Jordan

The Bidding:

After East opens 1♥ and South doubles for takeout, West can use a Jordan 2NT bid to show an invitational or better ♥ raise. There is no need for a natural 2NT response. With a strong balanced hand lacking a ♥ fit, West would redouble.

With a of 6, East will accept the invitation to game. Since West's hand is unlimited, some partnerships may elect to cue bid in case partner has extra values and wishes to explore slam potential below game. Neither partner has the extra values or shape to push passed game. So the auction will end at 4♥.

The Play:

With ♥s breaking 3-2 and the ♥King onside, a simple lobbing finesse toward the ♥Queen will hold trump losers to 1. Since ♣s are 3-3, declarer can pitch their ♠ loser on a ♣ or pitch their 3♦ losers on ♣ winners after drawing trump.

Playing Versus GIB:

GIB, BBO's bridge playing robot, used a Jordan 2NT bid to invite game in ♥s over my takeout double. The East robot chose not to cue bid, jumping to 4♥, denying slam interest. I lead the ♠King. The robot declarer won the ♠Ace and led a low ♣, the North robot playing the Jack; declarer winning the King. Now the robot declarer cashed the ♥Ace, followed by a lobbing finesse towards the ♥Queen. With the ♥King doubleton onside, I was forced to win the King and could cash a ♠, but now declarer can bring home the ♣ suit on a 4-2 break or a 3-3 break to discard their ♦ losers.

West	North	East	South
		Pass	2♥
Dbl	3♥	4♠	All pass

The Bidding:

East's hand does not meet the for an opener. Yet with 2 quick tricks, 11 HCP and a 5-card ♠ suit, many will choose to open 1♠.

At most tables, South will open the auction with a Weak 2♥. West has the ideal shape for a takeout double. North can advance the preempt. North expects 4♠ to make. The last bid North should make is 4♥ which only serves to give East-West more incentive to bid their game. 3♥ has the advantage of making a 3♠ advance somewhat ambiguous as to whether it is competitive or invitational. 3♦ as a lead director, for partnerships playing , has potential upside as well. My preference would be a direct 3♥ because the lead directing sequence gives the opponents the opportunity to disambiguate the competitive ♠ raise from the invitational raise: an immediate 3♠ is invitational, a delayed 3♠ is competitive.

East's hand has improved with partner's takeout double. East's of 7 suggests bidding game. With the weak 2♥ bidder behind East, many will choose to downgrade their ♥King doubleton and choose an invitational sequence. If North responds 3♥, making a 3♠ advance ambiguous, I would bid 4♠ directly, not leaving it to partner to guess whether the direct 3♠ was competitive or invitational. If North did not want to reveal their ♥ fit and chose to pass, East-West pairs playing can use a direct jump to 3♠ to show invitational values and 5+ ♠s. West, with a Losing Trick Count of 6, will accept any invitation. If East chooses to jump to game rather than invite, West has no reason to look for slam opposite a passed hand.

The Play:

On the lead of the ♥Ace or a trump, declarer may go down in 4♠ if they misguess the ♣s and the ♦s. A lead of the ♦Jack helps declarer avoid a 2nd ♦ loser with a double finesses against the ♦Jack-Ten. If South led the Jack from Jack doubleton, declarer always has 2 ♦ losers.

Without a ♦ lead, declarer may attempt an end play. After trumps are drawn and ♥s are eliminated declarer can attack ♦s hoping to set up a ♦ winner for a ♣ discard or end play the opponents to lead a ♣ or give a ruff-sluff. If declarer leads a low ♦ from hand, North would typically duck, hoping partner has the ♦Jack and declarer misguesses on the second round of ♦s. Here with the potential of an end play, it is best to win the first round of ♦s if declarer plays an honor from dummy and hope partner has Jack-Ten fourth in ♦s.

Alternatively, the double finesse against the ♦Jack-Ten will yield two ♦ tricks when South had either the ♦Jack or Ten, and 3 tricks when South has both. The double finesse can be combined with the end play to maximize chances.

West	North	East	South
Pass	4♠	All pass	2♠

The Bidding:

South will open a weak 2♠ and North will place the contract at 4♠. The colors are wrong for a 5♣ sacrifice. So 4♠ ends the auction.

The Play:

Declarer has 10 tricks: 6 ♠s + 2 ♥s + 2 ♦s. A , an end play, a doubleton ♦Queen or singleton ♥King is needed to make 11 tricks. On this hand there is not Squeeze because East can guard the 3rd round of ♥s. Of course, West must cover the ♥Queen or Jack to promote partner's Ten. Holding the ♥Nine, there is no downside to covering the ♥Queen. There is no risk of a finesse against partner's presumed Ten.

Playing Versus GIB:

GIB, BBO's bridge playing program, raised my weak 2♠ opening to game. The West robot made an aggressive lead of the ♦Ten, top of an interior sequence. The lead gives me my 11th tricks if I duck the lead to my Jack. I did not accept the gift and instead chose to eliminate ♣s and attempt an end play in ♥s. When the end play did not work, I settled for 10 tricks. 4♠ making 4.

Pass	Pass	1NT	2♣ ¹
2♦ ²	Pass	2♥	All pass

1. ♣ + a major
2. transfer to ♥s

The Bidding:

East will open 1NT. Even if East-West are playing a 15-17 HCP range, East's hand, with a five card-suit headed by the Ace-King, a King-Queen combination, and nice ♠ texture, merits an upgrade.

South, with an opening hand, and 5-4 distribution, can compete over 1NT. Methods vary by partnership agreement. Playing , South will bid 2♣, showing ♣s and a major. Many partnerships plays system on over a 2♣ overcall which does not show the majors. If so, West can bid 2♦ as a to ♥s. Should West compete in ♥s? West does not expect 1NT to make. 2♥ has a better chance to make because there is the opportunity to establish and ♥ winners and their is transportation between the hands. So without competition, the transfer to 2♥ is clear. If the opponent's compete with a double, showing a one suited hand, transferring to ♥s is a good idea because of the danger of the double being converted for penalty. When the competition is a 2♣ overcall, West has the option of passing. Competing in ♥s wins when it makes or when it goes down 1 and the opponents can make 2♠ or 3♣, or when it pushes the opponents to compete too high. My preference would be to compete.

If West competes in ♥s, North can place partner with ♠s and ♣s. South will have at most 1♥. So 2♠ is likely to make with a known fit and each hand with shortness. However, defending 2♥ is tempting. A 200 point penalty is needed to beat the expected plus in 2♠. Most two suited overcall structures over 1NT use a double by advancer to ask partner's second suit. Here, I would pass looking for a 2 trick set.

The Play:

2♥ is a disaster for East-West. North-Sout can take 2 ♠ tricks + 3 ♥ tricks + 1 ♦ trick + 2 ♣ ruffs. 2♥ down 2.

If East-West compete in ♠s, 9 tricks are available. The defense will quickly take a ♣ and a ♦ trick. Declarer cannot avoid losing a trump trick and a ♣ trick.

The Bidding:

West will open the auction 1♦ in 4th seat. East will respond 1NT, and West will reverse to 2♠ showing 4+ ♠s, 5+ ♦s, and 16+ HCP. With stoppers in the unbid suits and 3-card support for opener's ♦s, East will suggest 3NT as the final contract, ending the auction.

Partnerships playing lebensohl over reverses may choose to use the 2NT relay to show weak ♦ support, ending the auction at 3♦.

The Lead:

East's 1NT response to 1♦ and East's failure to support ♦s over the reverse suggests ♣ length. A ♥ lead is indicated.

The Play:

After a ♥ lead by West, declarer can try the Jack, hoping South under lead the King-Queen, or play low, hoping South has the Ten-Nine. Either way, North can cover the Jack or finesse against the Jack, hoping South has the Ten. 3 ♥ tricks are established for the defense. Now the defense has 5 tricks: 3 ♥s + 1 ♦ + 1♠.

Note that if West declares the notrump contract, North cannot attack ♥s effectively. Because the ♦Jack is doubleton and the ♠Queen-Jack are onside, West can make 3NT. Declarer can use their one entry to lead a ♠, forcing South to split their honors. Now a 3rd ♠ trick can be established on power.
